

NATIONAL LABORATORY FOR SOCIAL INNOVATION (TINLAB)

Together for an innovative society

The National Laboratory for Social Innovation (TINLAB) was founded in 2020 with the aim to support social innovators and social innovation activities and to provide knowledge management services. TINLAB contributes to the development of new methodological, financial, and professional framework and the overall dissemination of social innovation issues.

In recent years TINLAB has become a network node in the field of social innovation in Hungary, and ready to join international cooperation projects.

Focus areas

- Culture, competence, and human capital
- Social innovation methodologies
- Social impacts of digitalization
- Social innovations improving the quality-of-life

Activities

- R+D+I activities (15+ research programs)
- Trainings (200+ graduates in our social innovation manager training)
- Mentor network (30+ mentors nationwide)
- Pilot projects (testing the methods and activities in the field of social innovation)
- Thematic forums and events (mobilization of the quadruple helix, open workshops)

Partnership

- 4 consortium members
(leader: Eötvös Loránd University, members: University of Miskolc, University of Pannonia, HÁRFA Foundation)
- 130+ Hungarian partners
- 30+ international partners

tinlab.kommunikacio@innovacio.elte.hu

