Qualitative Research Mental Health Conference 10
Budapest, Hungary
21st to 23rd of May 2025

1. Report on presentation and participation

My abstract Perceptions of mental health from Roma people in the context of forced displacement: preliminary results of a qualitative study was accepted to be presented at the Qualitative Research Mental Health Conference 10, an international conference which happens every two years and it is considered an important and high quality conference about qualitative research in the field of mental health.

My presentation was scheduled for Thursday afternoon at PPK Kazinczy utca. I presented preliminary results of my qualitative research about mental health meanings, factors and needs from the point of view of Roma refugees in Hungary. I got good feedbacks on the relevance of the results and the topic, which keeps motivating me to advance this work.

Perceptions of mental health from Roma people in the context of forced displacement: preliminary results of a qualitative study

Anna Brandão¹, Eszter Gueth², Xenia Roszik-Volovik^{1,3}, Judit Balázs^{3,4}

1: Doctoral School of Psychology, Eotvos Lorand University, Hungary; 2: Cseppkő Gyermekotthoni Központ, Budapest, Hungary; 3: Department of Developmental and Clinical Child Psychology, Eötvös Loránd University, Budapest, Hungary; 4: Department of Psychology, Oslo New University College, Oslo, Norway

What motivated me to present this work in this conference was to communicate my PhD-related research findings, which could be a contribution to this scientific circle and discussions, and in turn receive feedback on my work, helping me advancing it before developing manuscripts for publication. Besides, it was also a great opportunity to network with skilled mental health professionals, discuss other presenters' studies and get inspired by them to improve my academic outputs.

Finally, I would like to express my gratitude to the partial financial support received from the Talent Support Council which made it possible for me to partially pay for the entrance fees.
