"I like my campus, and specially its library. Buildings have history behind them, you can feel the vibe. My professors are caring, helpful, great and they are masters in their fields, so as a student I can learn a lot from them."

Mahdokht Hajighasemi

Iran

The robust presence of the United States throughout the world, well observable in the contexts of politics, economy, and culture, calls for a body of experts who—aside from having excellent English language skills—have a specialized knowledge in the history, politics, society, culture, language, and literature of the United States. With this aim in mind, this program seeks to impart its graduates with the necessary theoretical knowledge and practical skills that can be fruitfully utilised in both private and public sector establishments interested in the communication and/or representation of American values and interests. The two-year long program does not confer teaching qualifications. Students will acquire a sound knowledge of and fluency in American English (oral and written, academic style) in-depth knowledge of the culture, history, and literature of the United States.

Career prospects:

Our graduates find jobs in the sectors of journalism and media, education, tourism, marketing and advertising, banking and accountancy, publishing and broadcasting, and at governmental organizations.

Job examples:

journalist, media expert, teacher, marketing and advertising manager, specialist in diplomatic affairs
